Frontend Web Development User Interaction Model

Web Development
Supplemental

The front end displays the user interface, listens for user interaction events, and updates the display based on that interaction

It is like a cycle

"Paint" a user interface

listen for interactions

Handle the user interaction get user inputs

Do something based on that interaction (e.g. make a data request to a remote server)

update UI elements